

Name _____

Little Basketball Star

Swish! Two points!
Swish again! Two more points!
I am only six years old, and the basketball hoop is ten feet high. Do you wonder how I can make a basket so easily?
Do I jump really high? No.
Do I climb up on something? No.
Can I fly? No, that's a silly question.
My daddy lifts me up with his strong arms. He helps me practice because I want to be a basketball star someday.

1. How old is the child in the story?

- five ten three six

2. What sport is the child practicing?

- basketball hockey
 baseball soccer

3. Is the following statement true or false?

The basketball hoop is ten feet high.

- true false

4. How does the child make his baskets so easily?

- He jumps really high. His daddy lifts him up.
 He climbs up to the hoop. He throws the ball very hard.

5. According to the story, what does the child hope to be someday?

- a teacher an electrician
 a basketball star a doctor