

INFERENCES SERIES: FEELINGS

13. Today is Teacher's Day. Like every year, her students give her flowers, chocolates, and cards with their drawings to tell her how much they appreciate having a teacher like her. How does the teacher feel?

14. I pick up some paper and some colored pencils. I play loud music. Very carefully, I begin to draw a picture of a landscape that I will color in later. Painting relaxes me and brings out my skills in the art of drawing. I feel ____.

15. I wait impatiently at the airport for my flight to Japan. I've been planning this trip for months. I am, finally, going to fulfill one of the dreams of my life. After Japan, we will go to India, and then, we will return home. I am feeling ____.

16. My sister's boyfriend is the best in the world. He always calls her to say good morning, and he has romantic dates with her. The other day he gave her a bouquet of red roses with a card and a poem. In it, he told her that he loved her very much. She feels ____.
