INFERENCE SERIES: TIME

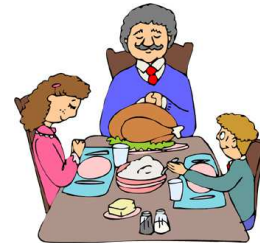

1. There is no noise, and it soon begins to get dark. Silence is with us. You quickly start to see the moon and stars. Some bats flit across the starry sky. Street lights come on, and people go home to rest. It is late, and it is time to sleep. When does this happen?

- a. on a birthday
- b. in the day
- c. at night
- d. in the morning

2. We all gather in the living room. It is a special day to celebrate and be thankful for everything we have. We eat the typical menu of turkey, corn, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, and pumpkin pie. Some of us are dressed as pilgrims, and others are dressed as Indians. It is a real party, and everyone is eating and celebrating happily. When does this happen?

- a. on Thanksgiving Day
- b. on a birthday
- c. on Valentine's Day
- d. in spring

3. There are balloons and sweets everywhere. Music plays as the clown begins to perform. The invited children applaud. Soon, it will be time to sing and blow out the candles on the big cake. The gifts will be opened. Finally, they will take the pinata to the garden, and all the children will receive sweets. When does this happen?

- a. on Thanksgiving Day
- b. on a birthday
- c. on Valentine's Day
- d. in spring
