

More Moo Please

Richard has a little brother named Alex. Alex is only two years old. His favorite animal is the cow because his favorite drink is milk, but he calls it moo instead of milk. Alex keeps asking Richard to read to him from his many picture books about cows and other farm animals. Afterward, Alex goes around the house and pretends to be a cow and saying moo a lot. Richard thinks it is funny.

One summer day, Richard's mother decided to surprise her sons with a trip to a big dairy farm out in the country near where they live. Alex was excited to learn that he would get to see lots of cows up close. They took a grand tour of the farm and saw how the cows are cared for, fed, and milked. At the end of the tour, they went to a little snack shop on the farm and sampled some fresh milk.

Alex gulped his first glass down with gusto, wiped off his milk mustache, smiled, and said, "More moo, please."
