Discovering His Fortune

Like every Sunday, Alejandro and his family had dinner at a nearby restaurant. His favorite food is Chinese, and what he likes most about eating Chinese food are the fortune cookies they give you at the end of the meal.

Because he is superstitious, Alejandro always reads the message carefully, thinking that in time, what it says on the paper will come true.

That Sunday he carefully broke the cookie to take out the paper, which said:

“You will meet who will be your best friend. 5 6 17”

Monday at school in the seat next to him, there was a new student who, with a smiling face, extended his hand to introduce himself.

I'm Felipe, I come from Spain, and I would like to be your friend.

The date on Monday was June 5, 2017.
