

Name _____

Date _____

Past Perfect Tense

Past perfect tense verbs talk about something that happened before something else. The past tense of “have” is used in front of a past tense verb to indicate past perfect tense.

Write the sentences in the past perfect tense.

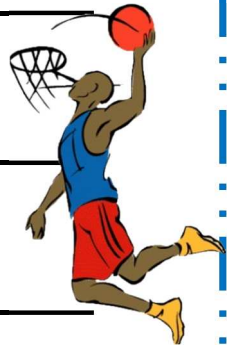

1. My group sat on the floor to study.

2. Suzy blew big bubbles with the soapy water.

3. We put our coats on before going out in the snow.

4. The basketball team practiced all weekend.

5. Mom finished baking the last of the cupcakes just in time.

6. The whole fourth grade went to the fire station for a field trip.

7. We learned how to do research for a story.

8. The band played well at half-time.

9. I watched my favorite movie.

10. Matt found his dad's lost keys.

ANSWERS

Past Perfect Tense

Past perfect tense verbs talk about something that happened before something else. The past tense of “have” is used in front of a past tense verb to indicate past perfect tense.

Write the sentences in the past perfect tense.

1. My group sat on the floor to study.

My group had sat on the floor study.

2. Suzy blew big bubbles with the soapy water.

Suzy had blown big bubbles with the soapy water.

3. We put our coats on before going out in the snow.

We had put our coats on before going out in the snow.

4. The basketball team practiced all weekend.

The basketball team had practiced all weekend.

5. Mom finished baking the last of the cupcakes just in time.

Mom had finished baking the last of the cupcakes just in time.

6. The whole fourth grade went to the fire station for a field trip.

The whole fourth grade had gone to the fire station for a field trip.

7. We learned how to do research for a story.

We had learned how to do research for a story.

8. The band played well at half-time.

The band had played well at half-time.

9. I watched my favorite movie.

I had watched my favorite movie.

10. Matt found his dad's lost keys.

Matt had found his dad's lost keys.